Jul 20, 2016 When I remove the pfir after EFI Chameleon installation, I do mv /var/db/pfir/current /var/db/pfir/backup - to remove the source of this problem. After that, I log in into the Mac OS X and install my Intel-based Mac once again, and I tried to install the iDeneb v1.5.1 10.5.7 (Exact copy of the installer.iso file) with adding the above changes. And after finishing the installation, the system also shows this "incompatible" error. Jul 24, 2016 With the help of iDeneb V1.5.1 10.5.7 "hacked" by A.MacVista. (More exact the DSST.aml). Jul 31, 2016 iDeneb V1.5.1 10.5.7 is not compatible with Mac OS X 10.8 / 10.9 (x86 CPU). Nov 18, 2018 I tried iDeneb V1.5.2 10.5.10 not working (Core Duo CPU) with iATKOS (WinDVD7) with installing DVD-Video and DVD-Audio Codec directly. Whole iDeneb v1.5.1 installation time: less than 1 hour. OK, iDeneb v1.5.1 will become the only version that I support. A: Since 10.7 (10.8 possibly) Apple introduced a new drive signature detection mechanism. If you want to get this signature working: Download a working Mac OS X installation DVD from one of the official iDeneb websites. The official DVD downloads are compatible with 10.7-10.10 (just select the ISO as your install media). Powercycle your Mac. Once you have booted from the DVD, hold CMD+R. This will boot to Recovery mode. From there select Reinstall OS X. The new iDeneb installer will detect the drive signature and proceed with the installation.
